

Article - Health - General

[\[Previous\]](#)[\[Next\]](#)

§21-328.

(a) A person may not knowingly employ any individual to work in any area or capacity in a food establishment in which there is a likelihood of transmission of disease to patrons or other employees of the food establishment if the individual employed:

- (1) Has a communicable disease that may be transmitted by food; or
- (2) Is a carrier of a communicable disease that may be transmitted by food.

(b) An individual may not knowingly work in any area or capacity in a food establishment in which there is a likelihood of transmission of disease to patrons or other employees of the food establishment if the individual:

- (1) Has a communicable disease that may be transmitted by food; or
- (2) Is a carrier of a communicable disease that may be transmitted by food.

[\[Previous\]](#)[\[Next\]](#)